

Steve Booren

Owner & Founder – Prosperion Financial Advisors

Steve Booren founded Prosperion Financial Advisors in 1996. Since then, he has grown the practice to one of the top 20 largest financial advisory firms in the Denver area*.

Steve began his investment career in 1978 with EF Hutton. After nearly 20 years with the investment company he left the corporate world to launch his own financial advisory firm. Backed by LPL Financial, the nation's leading independent broker-dealer, Steve pursued his mission to provide clients with independent, objective investment advice.

Utilizing his nearly 40 years of investment experience, he works with clients to identify their risks, opportunities, and strengths. He then develops personalized strategies to manage those risks, while focusing on the client's largest opportunities and leveraging their strengths.

A Colorado native, Steve graduated from Fort Lewis College in Durango and is an avid cyclist and part-time private ski instructor. He lives in Englewood with his wife Marie, and has two grown children, Scott (and his wife, Diana) and John (and his wife, Malorie).

*Based on assets under management, Denver Business Journal, February 17, 2017

 Based on total revenues, Financial Planning magazine, June 1996-2017